Every vote for the Democratic candidates for county office is a vote endorsing the great party for its interest in behalf of the laboring classes—the masses—and no Democrat should fail from any cause to so vote.

Before casting a vote every man should acquaint himself with the fact that the Democratic party has so legislated that he can now buy a suit of clothes for one-half what the same suit cost under the Republican tariff laws, and then vote for the party that has helped him.

The editor of this paper has talked with several politicians from over the district, and from the best information we can gather Beckner and Kendall will be elected by handsome majorities. But every Democrat must do his whole duty to insure such a success. There must be no sulking or skulking.

The Carlisle club at Catlettsburg expelled T. D. Marcum, editor of the Democrat, and Tom has issued a card denouncing those who said he had ever belonged to the club as "liars," "scoundrels," etc. He says the so-called club is simply a clique of ringsters who are robbing the tax-payers of Catlettsburg, and they are mad because he opposed their chicanery.

The Democratic party, ever the friend of the poor man for the poor man's sake, has recently reformed the tariff to such an extent that every laboring man who has goods to buy for himself, his wife, or his little ones, must feel that it has been his benefactor, and that, too, in time of his greatest need. Apropos of this we wish to remark that the Democratic party of this county has as clean a lot of candidates up for the various offices as ever sought the suffrage of an enlightened constituency. Indeed they are the peers of any to be found in the land, and nothing but party prejudice can find a fault with any of them. Remembering what the great party has done for him, can any poor man fail to vote for these men for county office? We think not.

The man who votes against the Democratic party now, when the beauty of the new tariff law is exhibited in the lower prices he pays for clothing, shoes, etc., must be akin to the folks that killed the goose that layed the golden egg. A little patience will bring him both pleasure and profit.

The situation in the Eleventh district is just now very interesting. John D. White, David Colson and Silas Adams have the Republican vote so divided that if all their names are polled Hon. George T. Stone, the Democratic nominee, is almost sure to go to congress. Let us hope that each of them will hold on with bull-dog tenacity.

Hon. William McKinley, governor of Ohio, and author of the infamous tariff bill which bears his name, passed through Lexington Saturday, en route to New Orleans, where he will taffy the sugar barons who recently quit the Democratic party. Courtesy prompted Mayor Duncan to call upon the prince of protectionists for a few remarks, and curiosity provided a crowd to listen while the train on the Cincinnati Southern waited at the depot.

Notwithstanding the efforts of an apparently large number of sore-heads to defeat Congressman Al. Berry, in the Sixth district, the "tall sycamore of the Licking valley" got there on the first ballot and landed with both feet, to the utter discomfort of his disgruntled constituents. The convention was held at Walton, in Boone county, and resolutions were passed endorsing President Cleveland's administration and presenting Hon. John G. Carlisle as the logical candidate for president next time.

Democrat, how about your neighbor? Do you know that he is in line for the congressional candidates and the county officers? If you have not entire confidence in the way he will vote on the coming 6th of November, does not your duty suggest that you see him and ascertain his status on the situation? The Republicans are making a still hunt, and unless you are wide awake they will slip up on an occasional vote which belongs to us. See to it that they don't get in any of their work on the unwary, and all will be well with us.

The sugar planters of Louisiana last year got the munificent sum of $11,099,841 direct from the government as bounty on the sugar produced by them, and because they can not perpetuate such pilfering under Democratic laws they bolt the Democratic party. One who has figured out the per cent of increase in this bounty, estimates that for the fourteenth year $101,518,806 would be paid to Louisiana planters. The Democratic party did wisely in repealing the law, and on Tuesday, Nov. 6th, every man who has the love of country at heart should go to the polls and endorse its action. Vote the Democratic ticket "from end to end."

The Republicans will make a desperate effort to capture two or three of the county offices, and to their credit be it said, they have nominated the best men in their ranks to make the race. But Democrats should bear in mind that each and every candidate on the Democratic ticket is as good as any they have or can name, and therefore there should be no "scratching." Without Democratic votes none of the Republican candidates hope to be elected, and before a Democrat thinks of voting outside his party he should put to himself the question: "Will it be honest, right or manly to pass my own party candidate for a man who is no better qualified?" And his manhood should invariably answer: "No; ten thousand times no! I will stick her under the rooster."

The following, taken from the Stanford Interior Journal, is so pertinent to the situation in Wolfe county politics, that we reproduce it entire for the consideration of all whom it may concern: "Whenever a Democrat tells you 'I'm going to vote the secret ballot this time,' you may put him down a coward, who is going to stab some of the nominees in the back with his little cross mark. He has an imaginary grievance and can wreak his vengeance without being found out, under the new order of voting, invented for the weak and cowardly. No honorable man who participated in the primary election will vote against the nominees of that election, simply because his man got left or because he is out of sorts with the party. He is just as much in honor bound to support the ticket as if he had sworn in open court to do so, and we take it that few will be unfaithful to their obligation. The total vote of the primary election cast now for the nominated ticket will elect it by several hundred and take the wind out of the Republicans, who hope on account of supposed Democratic dissatisfaction to carry the day. Let every Democrat do his duty and give the lie to the Republican belief that they are dishonorable or treacherous."

COURTEOUS BY INTUITION.

But He Would Throw Away the Snuff All the Same.

A very little incident will sometimes show the natural trend of a person's nature. An old Scotchman visited an office where some young men were congregated, and after concluding the business which took him there, stopped for a social chat. In the midst of this he took out an old-fashioned snuff box, opened it, took a pinch of the mixture and offered the box in turn to each one present.

The surprise of one was reflected in his face as he declined the proffered luxury, says the Detroit Free Press. Another smiled broadly as he said: "Excuse me," but the third took a pinch and held it in his thumb and finger, while the old man replaced his box, showing in every line of his shrewd old face his appreciation of the confidante, and soon after he took his departure.

"What will you do with it?" asked one of the group.

"Throw it away," was the reply; "but I was not going to hurt the poor fellow's feelings by refusing to take a pinch. It is like eating salt with an Arab—it makes you his friend therefore forever."

"How do you know that?"
"I have intuitions," was the quiet answer.

The Horse's Memory.

A Middletown (N. Y.) paper tells of a horse belonging to Mr. Schlemmer, of that place, who began to pick up its ears and look very intently at two ladies whom the butcher did not know. As they came nearer the horse became more excited and reached forward toward them as far as the strap by which he was hitched would allow. One of the ladies said: "Oh, there's our old horse," and went up to the animal, which responded to her caresses by rubbing his head against her shoulder. The horse had been in the possession of the lady's father for fourteen years and until four years before, and had always been her pet. No one who reads this incident need doubt that horses have good memories and affections for those who treat them well.

WOMAN'S LIFE IN INDIA.

An Existence Without Wickedness, But Intolerable.

The position of the native women of Rajpootana is singularly deplorable. Peened from their babyhood within the narrow limits of the zenana, they are cut off from all contact with the outer world, with which they communicate only through their slave girls, seeing not only no men but hardly any women, very few ladies of sufficient high rank living within visiting distance of each other. They are quite uneducated, unable to either read or write or work; nothing, therefore, remains to them but their affections, and these are outraged, their husbands professing no love for them and visiting them but occasionally, their children being taken from them at a very early age and placed under the guardianship of men, their mothers being considered unclean, and, alas! truly, to bring them up. Is it to be wondered at that such an education, such a violation of every instinct, every need of a human being, should produce creatures singularly depraved?

THE HERALD

For Short.

We are authorized to announce SAM HENRY WILSON as a candidate for sheriff of Wolfe county, subject only to the will of the people at the polls in November, 1894.

THIS PAPER is all home print, and if you want all the good things it contains you should read every article on each of the eight pages. You will find all the local news that way.

Little Herald Pieratt was thrown from a horse last Friday and got a considerable shaking up, but fortunately received no serious injury.

Dyspepsia seldom causes death, but permits its victims to live in misery. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures dyspepsia and all stomach troubles.

This office has for sale an elegant cannon stove with drum attached, just the thing for large school-room. Trustees desiring to provide a stove for their school should call and examine this one, as it will be sold at a bargain.

Rev. Hopkins preached at the Caskey school house on Wednesday. Quite a good sized congregation heard him, and he never said a word about going to congress. Perhaps it is just as well, for Little Joe is likely to disappoint him.

"Thrasher Combs is running like a scared deer," is the news we get from his race from all parts of the county. The fact of the matter is that not a voter in Wolfe county can find fault against him, and they are for him to a man.

John and Clay Cecil, sons of our fellow-countryman and friend, E. F. Cecil, have been and are still quite sick with fever. Mrs. Taulbee and Andy Nickell are both, we believe, attending them, and hope to bring them around all right.

Don't fail to read Mrs. F. N. Day's advertisement, which appears in this issue of our paper. She has a full line of millinery and dress goods, embracing the latest in fashion and the finest in fabric, all of which she will sell at fabulously low figures.

Henry L. Godsey will address the people in the interest of the Democratic party, at the following times and places: Ezol, Saturday, Oct. 27; Frenchburg, Tuesday, Oct. 30; Walnut Grove, Thursday, Nov. 1; Hazel Green, Saturday, Nov. 3; Jackson, Monday, Nov. 5.

Remember that James H. Swango and Rollin A. Kash will address the voters at Frenchburg, Thursday night, Nov. 1; Ezol, Friday, Nov. 2; Walnut Grove, Saturday, Nov. 3; Campton, Monday, Nov. 5. Speaking at 1 o'clock. Judge Amos Davis will be with them at Ezol.

Mrs. Lou Day desires to announce to the ladies of Hazel Green and vicinity that she is just now in receipt of a complete line of fall and winter hats, trimmed and untrimmed; dress goods, ladies' cloakings; fruits, confections, etc., etc., and will make it to the interest of buyers to purchase from her.

By request, Rev. Mr. Chisholm, of Winchester, who is conducting a series of meetings at the Presbyterian church in this place, will address the Teachers' Association, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. His subject will be "Shadows." We hope that not only our teachers, but every citizen of the town and community will hear him. Wm. H. CORD.

The records of Breathitt county show that B. N. Sorrelling, who is opposing Jeff M. Rose for the office of assessor of Wolfe county, is a citizen of Breathitt and not of Wolfe, as he voted in that county on November 7, 1893, and also the first Saturday in June, 1894. Had he examined the law he would not now be a candidate in this county.

The young democracy of the district is leading in the fight for Kendall and Beckner. Young Henry Godsey, of Hazel Green, who was Judge Lisle's secretary, is making eloquent speeches in Wolfe and adjoining counties, and James Swango, of the same place, who is now attending the law school at Danville, will make a half dozen speeches the week before the election, and he is an orator worth going miles to hear.—Winchester Democrat.

Dr. Chisholm, of Winchester, began a meeting in the Presbyterian church at this place on Tuesday night, which is still in progress and will continue over Sunday. The following are his subjects: Thursday—Batter cakes, or Ephraim Exploited; Friday—Apostolic Ambition, or the Cultivation of Conscience; Saturday—Sprinkling the Ashes of the Red Heifer, or the Gospel in the Water of Separation; Sunday—Morning service: The Power of Christ Crucified; Evening service: The Question of Life, or Pilate and Jesus. Everybody is invited.

Mrs. Caroline Taulbee, wife of Sewell Taulbee, deputy revenue collector, died at the residence of her husband in Jackson, on Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. The deceased was a sister of John B. Hollon, near Daysboro and of Mrs. D. B. Rose, of this place, both of whom attended the burial, which took place on Monday afternoon on Holly, near where she was reared. She is said to have been a most lovable woman, and the husband and two children who are so suddenly bereft of her love have the sympathy of all, in which THE HERALD most sincerely joins.

Read the new advertisement of Louis and Gus Struss, which appears in this issue of our paper, and if in need of an overcoat or suit of clothes give them a call. Nearly every man of Wolfe county who is a visitor to Lexington is a buyer in large or small amounts from this house, and nothing better could be said for the firm than that every purchaser is eminently satisfied with the bargain he gets. If you have not yet tried them it will pay you to do so on your first visit to Lexington. Or you may send them the cash with a mail order for what you want, and be assured of satisfaction in all respects.

From the way things are being overhauled at the mill in West Hazel Green one is led to the conclusion that the spirit of enterprise has seized upon the present manager and part proprietor, Mr. Jonathan E. Quicksall, with a firm grasp. He is putting a foundation of solid masonry under the engine, which is being thoroughly overhauled, and other repairs being made will make this mill second to none in this section. Mr. Quicksall tells us that as soon as he gets the mill in running order he will be prepared to make as good or better flour than was ever before produced in the mountains, while his grist and saw mill will be in a condition to do custom work promptly, cheaply and satisfactorily.

Gillum-Howard.

Yesterday evening at 7:30 o'clock a quiet wedding took place at No. 67 West Main street, in the presence of a number of friends and relatives of the contracting parties. Rev. W. S. Splawn, pastor of the Upper Street Baptist church, performed the ceremony which united in marriage Judge J. P. Gillum and Mrs. Maggie Howard. Judge Gillum is well and favorably known in this city as well as in other parts of the state. He was formerly a resident of Trimble county, of which county he was at different times county attorney, county school superintendent, and county judge. His wife is a daughter of Dr. C. H. Holbrook, of Paris, Ky., and a granddaughter of Sophia Amyx, who was the daughter of Mr. William Boyd, deceased, of this city. She is an exceedingly attractive woman and Judge Gillum is to be congratulated upon his good fortune.—Lexington Transcriber.

Notice to County Superintendents of Schools.

It is probably too late to hold the examination for county appointees for free scholarships to our school, so you will consider the claims of every applicant and appoint the two who present the best general average. Take into consideration the worthiness, the morality and earnestness of each applicant; also the time each desires to remain in school this year, and grant the appointment to the best, in your judgment, subject to approval by the Faculty of our school.

I trust you will bring this matter before the young people of your counties, and that two at least will make the application and take advantage of this offer, viz: We give two free scholarships to the following counties: Menefee, Morgan, Johnson, Magoffin, Breathitt, Lee, Powell, Perry, Knott and Owsley. Wm. H. CORD, Principal.

The Democratic committee of Wolfe county are requested to meet at the court house in the town of Campton, Saturday, Oct. 27th, 1894. I hope each member will be present, as we have business of importance to attend to.

Respectfully,
H. F. PIERATT, Chairman.

A TRIBUTE

To the Memory of Miss Rose Trimble.

BY MRS. WM. LUSK.

Ah me! With aching heart I read to-day
That Rose, dear Rose, from earth had passed away.

So good, so true—and oh, we loved her so—
Our hearts are sore distressed to let thee go,
Dear Rose, sweet Rose.

I tried to look upon her smiling face,
But ah! I cannot see its winning grace.

A flood of grief wells up and whelms me quite,
While hot tears hide thee from my longing sight—
Dear Rose, sweet Rose.

Poor, sorrowing mother, all my heart to thee
Goes out in tender, pitying sympathy.

How fast the waves of trouble e'er thee sweep,
What lonely vigils must thy soul keep
For Rose, sweet Rose.

Father and brothers, sisters, friends and all,
Upon so many lives the shadows fall.

Her hands so quick to do a kindly deed;
Her feet so swift to go in time of need.
Dear Rose, sweet Rose.

The fragrant memories of her life will be
A blessed heritage to you and me.

Those dear remembrances, we hold them fast—
Not even death can rob us of the past.
Dear Rose, sweet Rose.

The pleasant words she spoke in days gone by,
The light that kindled in her lovely eye,
The warm hand-clasp, the well-remembered tone—
Oh friends! these, all of these, are still our own.
Dear Rose, sweet Rose.

We sit with heavy hearts, and heads bowed down,
She walks in snowy white with shining crown.

Oh! in our selfishness we grieve, but still
We will be glad to hear thee, dear, we will
Dear Rose, sweet Rose.

HINDOO CHILD-MARRIAGES.

A Brahmin's daughter met Harry very early in her life. The Brahmin has to get his daughter married before she attains puberty. This custom has crept into religion. The Hindoo religion strictly forbids single life for woman or man; especially must the woman be married. Hence there are no old maids in India. Sometimes one may meet an old "cranky" bachelor, who has remained unmarried because he was too poor to marry, or because his character was not good; but even these are seldom found except in the lower classes. If a man is not married at the latest by his twenty-fifth year his reputation suffers. It is a belief that those who have a son go to Heaven, when the son, after the death of his parents, performs the spiritual rites. However this may be, whether they go to Heaven or not, this severe rule tends to a strict cultivation of home life.

Owing to this rule, if a Brahmin's daughter attains puberty before marriage the father is disgraced; he loses his caste and no one will marry the girl. Thus when a poor man has more than one daughter it is a misfortune for him. The Hindu father himself has to find out a suitable husband for his daughter, so he goes to a gentleman who has a son. He first makes inquires about the family, the property, the health and education of the boy. Then he asks the father of the boy to marry his son to his daughter. The father of the boy asks for dowry, and the amount of this is fixed according to the means of the man who asks for it and not of the man who gives it; that is to say, if the father of the boy is very rich he asks thousands of dollars. Hence the Hindu father of a girl has to spend much for the marriage of his daughter, for he always wishes to see her married into a rich family.

A PATRIOT'S PETTICOAT.

And How It Helped to Drive Off the British.

In a letter to the New York Times David S. Turner, of New Dorp, S. I., says: "During the war of 1812, when Commodore Hodge was at Stonington, the people there had no military defense except one old cannon which had been used for firing salutes. At Groton, on the bank of the Thames, opposite to New London, in the full vigor of womanhood and patriotism for her country, who, learning of the attack, immediately mounted her horse and started for that place to take part in the affray. Upon her arrival there the fight to prevent the landing of the Hardy force had already commenced, in which the old cannon was playing a conspicuous part, but soon it was found that the old gun must be given up for want of cartridges or material to make them. It was at this critical moment that Mrs. Bailey arrived, and, upon understanding the matter, gave instant notice that she could supply the needful, and then and there stripped off her flannel petticoat, which was soon worked into cartridges. The old gun was kept at work, and Commodore Hardy's force went back to the fleet to report progress.

"When Gen. Jackson was president and made his tour through New England he crossed the river at New London, made a call upon Mrs. Bailey at her Groton home and gave her a cordial handshaking and his hearty congratulations upon her courageous and patriotic action upon the occasion of the battle of Stonington."

IN NO DANGER

This Young Man's Head Would Never Be Cut Off.

A barber out on New York avenue was cutting the long, curling, profuse locks of a young man, who has some pretensions to being literary and occasionally poses before his friends as a great genius, says the Washington Post. With a supercilious smile and words that could be heard all over the room the young man inquired:

"Say, barber, what makes a man grow bald?"

The barber snapped his scissors once or twice and ran the comb through his beard.

"Well," he answered, slowly, "if a man has got lots of brains and is a deep thinker he generally gets bald. That, they say, leads to it every time."

Several of the customers looked at the young man's luxuriant crop and smiled rather broadly. The young man, however, did not exactly see the joke. So pretty soon, when the barber was running his fingers in the curly locks, he tempted fate again.

"Say," he asked, "do you think my hair will come out and I'll get bald?"

The man of the scissors paused reflectively, and then, as if he were delivering a judicial decision, announced:

"No; I don't think you stand in any danger of getting bald."

Then the barber laughed and the barber looked surprised.

Short-Lived Insects.

The brevity of insect life is illustrated in the case of those insects that must live and ruin the mushroom. The latter, whose life is measured by hours, is often ruined by an insect who deposits eggs that hatch out grubs while the mushroom is still apparently in the full vigor of youth. Before the mushroom has reached the tottering age of forty-eight hours the grubs may develop into the full-blown insects.

PROFITABLE BAZARS.

England and America Have Both Held Large Bazaars by Them.

On May 3, 1916, a bazar was opened in the Covent Garden theater which realized £25,046, says London Tid-Bits. The object of it was to obtain funds for the Anti-Corn Law League. The whole area of the pit and stage was boarded over and transformed into a Norman Gothic hall, filled to overflowing with products of manufacturing industry. About 100,000 persons visited the bazar during the seventeen days that it lasted. The stalls were attended to by 400 ladies, the wives and daughters of leading free traders. A bazar for the same object was opened at Manchester on February 2, 1842, when the receipts amounted to £10,000; £22,000 were realized at a bazar in the Free Trade hall, Manchester, in aid of the Children's hospital in that city; £21,000 were raised at a bazar in Dublin in May, 1892, in celebration of the centenary of the Masonic female orphan school. No fewer than $5,914 people passed through the turnstiles during the five days the fete was kept open. Twenty thousand pounds were raised in November, 1890, at a bazar in London, in aid of masonic institutions. The sum of £13,716 was taken at a bazar held at Glasgow in February, 1890, in aid of a students' union at the university.

On May 17, 1904, at the close of the Metropolitan fair held in New York, John H. Gourlie, chairman of the finance committee, transferred to George T. Strong, treasurer of the United States sanitary commission, the sum of $1,000,000 as the "first installment" of the proceeds of the fair. He expected $100,000 to be added later.

ENDING A FAMILY ROW.

A Wife's Stratagem for Getting Even with Her Stubborn Husband.

The other evening, says the New York Recorder, as a muscular person was passing a house, a lady who stood at the gate called out to him: "Sir, I appeal to you for protection!"

"What's the matter?" he asked, as he stopped short.

"There's a man in the house and he wouldn't go out of doors when I ordered him to."

"He wouldn't, eh? We'll see about that!" Thereupon the man gave the woman's coat to hold up and called into the house. He found a man at the supper table and took him by the neck and remarked: "Nice style of brute you are, eh? Come out of this or I'll break every bone in your body!"

The man fought, and it was not until a chair had been broken and the table upset that he was hauled out of doors by the legs and given a fling through the gates.

"Now, then, you brass faced old tramp, you move on or I'll finish you!"

"Tramp! Tramp!" shouted the victim as he got up. "I'm no tramp! I own this property and live in this house!"

"You do?"

"Yes, and that's my wife holding your coat!" whispered the muscular man, and he grazed from one to the other and realized that it was the wife's method of finishing a row she had been having with her husband. And then he made a grab for his coat and disappeared into the darkness.

GYMKHANA IN LONDON.

How the English Are Amusing Themselves with an Indian Sport.

The gymkhana, a sort of gymnastic hash, in which the participants are expected to exercise their ingenuity in devising all sorts of unheard of performances, has been introduced into England from India. The sport is very popular in that part of the orient, but is little known in western countries.

The idea was launched in London the other day, and according to the papers there the lovers of sport have gone crazy over it. The most amusing event on the programme was a costume race. Seated on side saddles and attired in dresses of the gayest colors and the most startling cut five men went round the course, which included a bushy hurdle. Two ballet girls (both men) covered their ponies' quarters with voluminous skirts, a Dolly Varden and baby in bed gown and sun bonnet, and raced for the fence, and Charley's Aunt brought up the rear.

After five minutes the day was the obstacle race, in which a variety of objects likely to put ponies on were arranged round the course. The one that attracted people most was the series of paper screens through which the ponies had to force their way. The head-to-tail race and the handkerchief dash were mirth-provoking features. In the former men rode at lively speed with their faces toward the horse's tails, and in the latter a rider dropped a lady's handkerchief on the ground, then at a gallop picked it up without leaving the saddle.

The Impudent Wensel.

Impudence seems to be the leading characteristic with the wensel in his relations with man. Perhaps the creature has confidence that his long, slender body can always be snatched away into safety before the ordinary human being can do him harm. At any rate, the wensel will coolly sit in the chink of a stone wall and watch the doings of men within a short stone's throw of his asylum, and after nightfall the beast will crawl about fearlessly within a yard or two of any human being that may approach his haunts.

Your scribe attended the Beattyville fair one day, and while there witnessed the killing of Sheriff Simms. It was a sad affair.

The schools in this section have been undergoing many disadvantages—foddering, potato digging, chestnut gathering and whooping cough; but we are glad to say these hindering obstacles are to some extent removed.

Superintendent Thomas has been visiting the schools in this section, and we are glad that we can say for him that he is wide awake to the interests of the common schools of Lee county. He is an old teacher, and knows the necessities for better advantages in education.

Bree, John Morris and Stamper, assisted by Bro. Wilson, have been conducting a series of meetings on Walker's creek and surrounding country with unexpected results. There has been 39 new converts added to the Christian church. We cannot say too much for Bro. Morris, inasmuch as he buys the people's staves, ties, spokes and logs. He never forgets to work earnestly for the salvation of souls.

MORGAN COUNTY.

Grassy Griets.

J. C. Havens made a business trip to Hazel last Sunday.

James R. Rose and wife, of this place, visited relatives at Lee City last week.

Mrs. J. C. Havens and Miss Membrand Byrd have been on the sick list the past week.

Elder B. F. McGuire, of Omer, filled his appointment at the old Grassy church, near this place, Sunday.

Joseph Havens, of Montgomery county, accompanied by his wife and little grandson, are visiting relatives here.

Jno. Havens has just completed a handsome dwelling on his farm near this place, which adds much to the beauty of his farm. John is a hustler from 'way back, and with a few more such men and a railroad, Morgan county would be on a boom sure enough.

CINDERELLA.

"Blart" Blivertons on the Railroad. The election draweth nigh, and it is time for those of Morgan county who oppose the bridge tax to give the matter a business consideration, for it is strictly a business question, and every man in the county should be interested in the welfare of his people; and my dear reader if you are one who claims to be opposed to this tax you should have some good reasons for your objections. I notice that most all the opposers would like for the road to be built, and they admit that our county will never be much unless it is developed by railroads. They know and admitting this to be true, how can you afford to oppose a measure that would sure give us a road? You need not say that "they will build the road whether we vote the tax or not," for you don't know. Ever since I was a small boy I have heard our people talk about railroads that would soon be built through our county, but it has been all talk and no road, and if we continue to talk and do nothing, who knows when we will get a road?

A good motto is to "always take advantage of the doubt." This would save us many times the unpleasantness of regretting our risky actions in matters of importance. There is no doubt about us getting this road if we vote this tax. Then why not do it and get the road at once?

There is no use of you arguing that the tax will "overburden our people," for the figures that appeared in THE HERALD last week show you precisely how it could be paid in nine years at the present rate of taxation.

But when the road is in operation, 26 miles of it being in the county, with all the depots, saw mills, stores and other improvements that will be along the line, all of which under the new constitution is taxable for bridge building just the same as real estate or other property, you have to admit that the rate of taxation to raise the same amount of money in the same length of time would be less instead of greater, and while there are millions of bushels of coal in our county it is not taxable till it is mined. This alone (the yearly output of these mines) would be quite an addition to our source of revenue. Our population would also greatly increase, which, of course, would lessen our poll tax.

It is claimed by some that "railroads have a demoralizing influence." Now it does seem that "a wayfaring man, though a fool," would not resort to such an argument as that, for if that were correct, then the more railroads the more immorality, and the great and prosperous western states that are checked in every direction with railroads would be a real hell on earth.

It does not require much reasoning to show the absurdity of such objections, for we have a case to the point. Only a few years ago Breathitt county was a real cesspool of crime. How is it since the railroad has been built—a complete change—the people are law-abiding, industrious and prosperous, they have one of the best schools in the mountains, churches have been built, and enterprising men, having money and push, have located among them. Thus what was once the land of blood is now the home of a thriving and happy people. Vote for the tax.

16 Boils at Once

Hood's Sarsaparilla Purifies the Blood and Restores Health.

Mr. F. W. Stowell
Wilmet, S. Dak.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: "About four years ago my wife was troubled with salt rheum. Although we tried nearly everything it got worse instead of better and spread over both of her hands so that she could hardly use them. Finally she decided to use Hood's Sarsaparilla and when she had taken two bottles her hands were entirely healed and she has not since been troubled. In December, 1902, my neck was covered with boils of a Scrofulous Nature.

There were sixteen of them at once and as soon as they healed others would break out. My neck finally became covered with ridges and scars. I then commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking four bottles the boils had all healed and the scars had disappeared. I recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla to all suffering from any disorder of the blood." Z. W. STOWELL, Wilmet, South Dakota.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and efficiently, on the liver and bowels. 25c.
